DIRECTOR'S MESSAGE

Prof. Vinita S. Sahay
Director, IIM Bodh Gaya

"With our thoughts, we make the world."
– Gautam Buddha

Dear Recruiters,

We are an institution built on a simple but demanding idea: that leadership begins with clarity of mind. Our campus stands on ground where Lord Buddha attained enlightenment, and that history shapes more than our address — it shapes how we think about education itself. Bihar's long tradition of wisdom and quiet perseverance runs through everything we do here.

This year marks eleven years since we began this work. Over that time, our aim has stayed consistent: to develop leaders who pair sharp analytical minds with genuine emotional maturity and a real sense of responsibility toward the world around them.

We often say that at IIM Bodh Gaya, "being" comes before "doing." It's not a slogan so much as a working principle. We want our students to lead with mindfulness and compassion, yes, but also with purpose that doesn't waver under pressure. Management theory matters here, but so do the values that decide how that theory gets used. Our graduates are encouraged to think big without losing their footing, and to face difficult problems with both strategic rigor and a clear ethical compass.

The academic experience is deliberately intense. Students work through a rigorous curriculum, learn directly from faculty with real depth in their fields, and interact regularly with industry leaders who bring current, practical context into the classroom. The summer internship gives them an honest taste of corporate life before they graduate, and the campus itself — energetic, collaborative, occasionally chaotic in the best way — pushes them to build resilience alongside skill.

To our recruitment partners who have stood by us over the years, thank you. Your continued trust means a great deal, and it has helped shape what this institute has become. To those considering a partnership with us for the first time, we'd be glad to have you join this effort. We look forward to welcoming you to our campus and to introducing you to the talent we've had the privilege of shaping.

Thank You

CHAIRPERSON'S MESSAGE

Prof. Deepika Gupta

"The one who is diligent and mindful reaches the highest good."
– Gautama Buddha

Dear Recruiters,

At the Indian Institute of Management Bodh Gaya, we hold a simple belief: the leaders who'll matter most in the years ahead are the ones who pair knowledge with purpose, innovation with responsibility, and ambition with integrity. It gives me great pleasure to introduce our 12th batch of the MBA programme, alongside the 4th batches of our MBA in Digital Business and Artificial Intelligence (DB&AI) and MBA in Hospital & Healthcare Management (HHM). These students come from remarkably varied academic and professional backgrounds, and that diversity shows — they carry themselves with a confidence and sense of responsibility well suited to today's shifting business world.

Learning here doesn't stop at the classroom door. Case-based teaching, live projects, direct industry interaction, simulations, and hands-on research all push students to test what they know against real problems, not hypothetical ones.

We also take development beyond academics seriously. Whether it's taking on leadership roles in clubs and committees, competing at national events, organizing flagship programmes, or getting involved in cultural, sporting, and community initiatives, students build the kind of adaptability and confidence that future managers actually need — not just what looks good on paper.

Our relationships with industry partners matter deeply to us, and we remain committed to building on them in meaningful ways. I'd like to personally invite you to engage with our MBA, MBA DB&AI, and MBA HHM students, and I look forward to a strong, lasting association with your organisation.

Thank You
Prof. Deepika Gupta
Chairperson, Career Development Cell (CDC)

ABOUT IIM BODH GAYA

India's management education story really begins with independence in 1947, and the IIMs have been central to that story ever since — shaping leaders through rigorous academics, close industry ties, and a genuine sense of purpose tied to nation-building. That standard hasn't slipped. IIMs still produce professionals who go on to make a real difference across industries and society at large.

IIM BODH GAYA carries that legacy forward in its own way, blending academic depth with learning that's grounded in practice. Students don't just study business — they work through live projects, internships, corporate interactions, and guest lectures, building experience alongside theory. Partnerships with universities across the US, Europe, and Asia add another layer, giving students exposure to different markets and ways of thinking that a purely domestic programme couldn't offer.

The MBA gives students a solid grounding in core management principles while sharpening the strategic and analytical instincts they'll need as leaders. Alongside it, the MBA in Digital Business and AI (DB&AI) is built for where business is heading — artificial intelligence, analytics, fintech, digital transformation — while the MBA in Hospital & Healthcare Management (HHM) trains professionals to take on the particular, and growing, demands of healthcare management.

The Institute's location isn't incidental. Bodh Gaya is where Lord Buddha attained enlightenment, and that history of wisdom and transformation shapes the institute's character in ways that go beyond symbolism. Known as "The Enlightening IIM," IIM Bodh Gaya is built around the idea that responsible leadership comes from a mix of innovation, genuine collaboration, and a willingness to keep learning — qualities its graduates carry with them into a business world that keeps changing shape.
